

The League of Lectroids for Lizardo

Fellow Lectroids,

John Howling Mouse, Official Communications Liason, couldn't be here as she's off trying to get some dirt on the monkey boys at the Banzai Institute. (Actually she's in San Antonio trying to find a job to pay the electric bill we've run up.) That's why this letter comes from the secretary's desk and not the head office.

Now, I bet you are asking yourself how a bunch of lazy Lectroids like us came to be doing something as time consuming as this. Well, this being doesn't quite know either.

It all began for the LLL at the North American Science Fiction Convention when Howling Mouse, Washnwear and I infiltrated the EBI meeting and heard Silver Fox's dazzlin program. We realized then that Banzai's harassment of Lectroid life on this planet was no passing fad. Their movement was growing (even people who hadn't seen the film were excited) and T.V. and Twinkies were not going to save us from extermination from the earth. So after a nice 20 kilowatt lunch we sat down in dorm room, became "John's" and the LLL was born.

We soon had five Members and all five (H.M, Washnwear, Nevermore, Crashlanding and Last Resort) attended our first informal meeting- at Doctorcon/Minicon in Houston. We had no program just lots of Twinkies, batteries, Kool-Aid and other junk food. We passed out some gorgeous flyers and tried to excite the public. We had a little better sucess in the costume contest. Excerpt- "You have heard that Lord John Whorfin alias Doctor Emilio Lizardo is dead! But NO! These rumors are vile propoganda circulated by the Banzai Institute. Lord Whorfin Lives!" All in all it went OK.

Unfortunately Leage activities had to be delayed shortly thereafter due to a bizarre ritual here at the University of Texas...Final Exams. But we are up and at 'em again now with time on our hands. Ha Ha We did manage to send Twinkiegrams to Lord Whorfin, Catnip and Silver fox at Christmas, another monkey boy ritual.

Howling Mouse & Washnwear were able to get by Yoyodyne during the Christmas break and they reported that it felt lonely there with Lord Whorfin and the Troop ship gone. Buckaroo Banzai also did a good job of ransacking the place. He destroyed three perfectly good T.V. sets too!

We are currently plotting and planning activities for our upcoming trip to Aggiecon in College Station, Texas during April. We are also journeying (Or, we are going to try) to Context in Houston during Feb. but time is short. "We must work while the clock she's a ticking." We may also take a stab at the Aggiecon costume contest and some type of meeting. We would definitely like to attempt an ad in the program book. My piggy (snotty?) bank is filling up with pennies to pay for it. As I said or hinted we're mostly starving students so far around here. In any case, we are even contemplating some form of creative party-crashing on a BBI meeting (if they have one). This is still in the early planning stages.

Contributions, artistic and monetary will be accepted. We- unfortunately- have not convinced 20th Century Fox to donate it's equipment to us (It'd be a rather long commute anyway) and printing costs. The Government cancelled the Truncheon bomber deal and the Snott market is in a slump so money is tight here at the Lectroid Lodge. One way to help us out is to always enclose a Self Addressed, Stamped Envelope (SASE) with all enquiries.

Enough. Money talk makes me woosy. I need a recharge. Let's talk snotts instead. No? Oh well. We are sending you all a flyer to copy and distribute. Get out, meet others if possible. Our mailing list is still fairly short so we may not yet know of anyone near you. Please return the questionnaire for our files. Indicate whether you would like to get or be on a mailing list so that other fans can find you. A more complete newsletter will be out as soon as I can get together with Howling Mouse.

'til Lord Whorfin Returns!

Contest Announcement

The League of Lectroids for Lizardo is proud to announce the first (and hopefully final) NAME THE LECTROID LETTER contest. Our illustrious leader John Howling Mouse is offering a prize of 10,000 Lire, actual Italian money, to the person (being) who submits the best name for our news letter. We HOPE to have the first edition out around March and the winner will be announced then.

Nothing too earthy please!!!!

Update on John Lithgow (The monkey boy who portrayed our great leader so flatteringly)

Our beloved John has recently hosted Saturday Night Live and once again portrayed Lord Whorfin on film. This little spot on national television will hopefully intrigue some of the ignorant populace who may unknowingly be lectroids at heart. He has also appeared in Santa Clause-The Movie, (Oh well, you can't win them all John) and has just finished up the Manhattan Project for 20th Century Fox.
